GOV. MORROW WILL REFUSE TO PARDON PISTOL TOTERS

In a recent statement, Gov. E. P. Morrow most emphatically asserts that he will refuse a pardon to those convicted of carrying pistols. He also urges that all officers carry this law into full execution, so far as they can.

Gov. Morrow says pistol carrying promotes homicide and begets a desire to use the weapon carried. It makes men murderers in their minds and hearts before they carry the deed into execution. The habit is called vicious, cowardly and indefensible and the pistol toter is a bad citizen and a menace to society.

PELLY-JARVIS

The wedding of Mr. James D. Jarvis and Miss Zella Pelly was consummated at the home of the bride in Columbia, Ky., August 4th.

The happy young couple spent a few days in Louisville returning to Barbourville on Wednesday night.

Mr. Jarvis is a splendid business man, representing the Acme-Jones Co., of Louisville and has a host of friends over a wide territory who will congratulate him on his good fortune.

The bride, who has taught in the Barbourville schools for some years, is generally beloved for her sterling qualities of head and heart and the best of good wishes will follow her as she and her husband travel life's pathway together.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis will go to housekeeping in the former B. C. Lewis home on Pine St., recently purchased by Mr. Jarvis.

WARRANT OUT FOR KNOX COUNTY MAN

Dillard Bingham, Richard McCoy, Henry Downey and Ernest Southers were arrested Sunday afternoon, charged with transporting liquor into local option territory. Patrolman "Red" Stewart, on a warrant issued by Judge Ingram, searched an automobile driven by Southers, in which the others were riding and found four gallons of moonshine liquor. The car was on the road near Four Mile when the officer stopped it and made his "raids." At the examining trial Tuesday morning, on a motion of County Attorney Patterson, the charge against McCoy, Downey and Southers was dismissed there being no evidence that they had any interest in the liquor or knowledge that it was stored in the car. They were each, however, recognized for appearance before the grand jury at the October term of the Bell Circuit Court. Bingham was held over to the Circuit Court on a bond of $500, and was also required to execute a peace bond in the sum of $500. It developed in the trial that the liquor was purchased from John Jackson, who lives on Stinking Creek, in Knox County. Warrants for his arrest have been made. —Pineville Sun.

BAD ODOR FROM SEWER

The sewer by the Harris Restaurant is smelling pretty badly from an ooze in the pipe. This pipe breaks back of the restaurant also and is a public nuisance.

The trouble seems to be that it is attached to the Court House sewer and the sewerage should run down thru the River St. sewer but this portion is too low and when it runs up it only bursts for all to smell but it also backs into the Court House sewer and causes trouble at that place. It is largely an engineering question and it seems that this portion should be either raised or cut loose from the Court House sewer.

Dr. Albright, making an inspection of the Court House toilet room, states one needs a gas mask to enter. People with the sanitary ideas of Digger Indians use the place and it is a wonder the jailer is alive to tell the tale. Dr. Albright suggests that a detective be put on the job of rounding up these revertors to savagery, but does not believe any insurance company would take a risk on his life. We would suggest a sentry box and a periscope. This might be built into one of the rooms above, the sentry to be supplied with poison gas for the breakers of the laws of decency and sanitation.

M. E. LADIES AID

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church held its regular meeting Friday afternoon, August 6th, at the home of Mr. R. N. Jarvis with Mrs. Bretz as hostess.

Mrs. H. H. Owens took charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. W. Hopper.

During the business session two notes amounting to over three hundred dollars, were burned. After a general discussion concerning work of various committees the literary program was given.

The topic of the day was Service. Mrs. James D. Black's paper on "Service with Sacrifice" dealt with service in everyday life and in the community.

Mrs. John Stanfill discussed "The Keynote of Service" and followed her paper with a reading, "My Task."

The program was most interesting and helpful.

Mrs. R. N. Jarvis and Mrs. Speed Moore were visitors.

After adjournment dainty tea refreshments and cake were served by Mrs. R. N. Jarvis, Misses Ruby Putnam and Emilie Sampson.

DEMOCRATIC ADDRESS

The address by Gov. J. D. Black before the women of Barbourville on the "Principles of the Democratic Party" was heartily appreciated. The time of thought followed closely that for which the party has stood since its early days with Thomas Jefferson. The word "Democracy" carries the longing for an ideal that appeals to people under oppressive governments. Gov. Black presented the Peace Treaty and League of Nations in an able manner. The ladies were complimented by the presence of a number of men.

DID SHINERS BATTLE WITH EACH OTHER?

On Wednesday morning two dead mules were found in the county road on Straight Creek near the mouth of Buffalo Branch. The story of the death of the mules which has reached Pineville shows how fearful of the law are those who are dealing in "Mountain Dew." As the story goes, one mule was carrying its rider toward Pineville with two jugs of moonshine liquor. The other mule was carrying a rider who had been in this section delivering a load of corn whiskey. It was night and the moon had dropped behind the mountains, when two riders met in the county road.

Whether or not they each had sampled their merchandise, and had reached that condition where all men looked like revenue officers is not stated, but, be that as it may, the story goes that they did mistake each other for an other, and each pulled his gun and fired. Both mules fell dead, and the riders walked toward each other with hands in the air. When they came together they each recognized the other, and after "cussin'" the luck that had caused them to lose their valuable farm animals, wended their way on foot to their homes, being located somewhere in that section of the country. The liquor which was enroute to market was saved and may yet reach its destination.

This story is not vouched for, but we were told "on the quiet" that the above is the true account of how two mules came to their death on the public road. —Pineville Sun.

A CANNING FACTORY

Barbourville lies in the midst of a district which can grow more and better vegetables than most towns in the United States. We should have a canning factory located here, owned and run by local capital, with our farmers taking stock along with Barbourville citizens, either paying for same in produce or cash or in both. Tomatoes alone should produce big financial returns which would enter the marts of trade. Berry growing would be stimulated and farms that now produce a living and little more would make their owners independent. The Barbourville Electric Light Plant has plenty of steam which could be utilized for steam canning and the markets are close at hand, begging for good fresh produce.

Stock in a cannery managed by men of sense would pay the dividends. Let's have one.

FIRST AID TO CUPID

TOULIS, France.—When the Duchess of Valentinois, heir to the Principality of Monaco, recently approached the day of her marriage to the Count de Polignac, she asked the permission of the Junior Red Cross workers here before starting on her honeymoon. Legally the "Juniors" had no hold on the noble couple, but practically the Countess de Polignac, nee Valentinois, could not leave Toulis, where she has been engaged for the past year in child rearing work, until the Junior Red Cross section here had agreed to take over the work during her absence.

POKER—POLICE CHIP IN—WIN

It was morning—a rain was gently falling. The scene was the oldish man stable. The table presented seven males of the genus homo. Bluff was in the air and each countenance was as inscrutable as the Sphinx. It was the national game, baseball excluded. And the outside world bartered and sold, wotting not of the peace and quiet of the old equine residence.

But, and the grammarians assert that but is the conjunction for goat, but, O! word of fate! import on which has hung the starry crowns of empires and human destiny, but out in the rain, which as before mentioned was gently falling, two figures appeared. They paused. It was a fatal move for the gentlemen within whose countenances so resembled the Sphinx.

Like the others who have met fate, they realized that the game of life, vs. caught with the goods is a hard game to cash in on. Judge K. F. Davis let the boys throw $24.50 each into the pot. Bert Catron, and Sherman Bowles were the cronies that raked in the boys. Meanwhile, the city funds are in clover.

FAMILY REUNION

Mrs. James R. Sawyers, of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mrs. Amelia Culton, Mrs. A. W. Hopper and Ruth Bowman, of this city, have returned from Huntington, W. Va., where they went to be present at the reunion of the family of Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Culton at the home of their son John H. Culton, 820 Eleventh Avenue.

Representatives from the families of each son and daughter except Mrs. Kate Culton Miller, deceased, were present.

The following included the guests: Mrs. Amelia L. Culton, Barbourville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Culton and family, of Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. James R. Sawyers, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Culton, and their children, Winifred and Grace, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Freeman and their son Culton, of Huntington; Mrs. A. W. Hopper and Ruth Bowman, of Barbourville; Yance Culton of Whiston-Salem, N. C., and Charles G. Blaek, of Hamlin, W. Va.

THE BOOZE QUESTION

Last week we printed an article dealing with drunkenness in Barbourville, and while agreeing with the sentiments expressed therewith, Judge K. F. Davis and Chief of Police Bert Catron feel that we have given but one side of the matter. They point out and cite the records to show that those guilty of drunkenness were fined before the Advocate was issued. Further, they show that numerous cases of drunkenness were dealt with before the City Court during the past months.

Chief of Police Catron states that he investigated the shot fired and found that it came from a pistol that was accidentally discharged while being taken from a trunk.

We give this data in justice to the officers concerned. There is no question that both of them in common with the County officers are anxious to bar liquor from town.

The main point of the Advocate article was that every legal effort should be made to discover the makers of the stuff, even to calling in the Federal Officers to assist in their capture.

Most of the murders in this section are grounded on whiskey, and with the pistol toting habit. The stuff perverts the moral point of view, human life becomes a cheap thing, women and children are left without their natural protectors, and society is saddled with the necessity of keeping in confinement men, who but for liquor, would have remained wealth producing citizens.

As we stated last week, the best method of eradicating the evil is to insist on knowing where the liquor comes from. Then arrest the bootlegger. Fines are of little use in stopping the traffic as the bootlegger does not care what happens to those who drink the stuff or what unhappiness he may cause to their families. If he did he would not make it.

Prof. Chas. E. Ahler is in town for a few days. Prof. Ahler will have charge of the Band Instrument Department of Music at Union College again the coming year.

EGHTY GALLON STILL CAPTURED

Revenue Officers C. L. Whinney, of Somerset, and J. H. Kavanagh, of Lancaster, accompanied by County Patrolman Clegg, Stewart and Levi Mason, of this city, and C. M. Yearly and Ashby DeLoach, of Middlesboro, captured an 80 gallon moonshine still together with about 100 gallons of mash, on Tuesday night, in the mountains near Longmont, this county. The still had been in operation on Tuesday, as the furnace was warm when the officers located it. No one was about the still when it was found and no arrests have been made. The officers destroyed the still. —Pineville Sun.

OLD HICKORY vs MT. VERNON

Old Hickory and Mt. Vernon played a game between showers last Sunday. Tye pitching for Old Hickory and Drew for Mt. Vernon. The game resulted in a victory for Old Hickory, 7 to 1. This is the first defeat Mt. Vernon has suffered this year.

JUNIOR CLIRS OF LAUREL COUNTY IN CAMP AUGUST 16-21

The members of the Junior Clubs of Laurel County will hold a camp August 16-21 which will be in charge of J. W. Feltner and will be attended by about 200 boys and girls under a teaching staff of five or six instructors and leaders for every ten club members.

The Junior Club Camp is the get-together for the boys and girls and requires a regular registered leader for about every ten members. A special course of instruction will be given to camp leaders the object of the instruction being to equip leaders for efficient work in their own communities. A commissary will be established on opening camp and each member will deposit his supply of edibles which will be issued later from the common stock according to the regular menu. One cook will be employed for every thirty or thirty-five persons enrolled. A small registration fee of 50 cents will be charged to cover the cost of hiring a cook and other incidental expenses. The club department will furnish tents for cooking, commissary, sleeping quarters and auditorium.

The program will be the four-fold life program. Monday will be used for registration and organization, with the first meeting held in the afternoon or night and Tuesday the regular program will begin. At least five regular classes will be established covering (1) four-fold life; (2) plans for home clubs; (3) Agricultural demonstration; (4) health and best aid; (5) leadership course for adults. These will occupy the morning hours and the afternoon and evening newspaper advertising. Programs will be allowed for athletic organizations and contests; health and best aid; evening devotion and campfire. The members will be organized into groups and the instructors will be changed from one group to another.

Keep away from temptation.

ODD FELLOW CONCERT

Union College Lodge will be crowded on Monday night with the girls of the Odd Fellow Dept. of the Home, assisted by one boy, put on a concert and entertainment which was a first class performance.

Grand Master W. B. L. and Grand Secretary R. H. Eller, Assistant Secretary Miss Tallie Cooke and Supt. E. H. Rich were present. Mrs. Sarah Hughes, of Barbourville who is a member of the G. L. was also on the platform. The local Lodge turned out in good force.

Miss Cooke made the appeal for the $500,000 endowment fund which is now being raised. A young lady who is herself a member of the Home, made a touching gift on behalf of the project. The result of the appeal was the raising of $3,500 and it is hoped to bring the sum up to the $5,000 mark for Knox County.

The Home is to be congratulated on the "product" it is turning out and on the fine work done by the young people.

PLEASANT PAETIA

Miss Mary Miller entertained at her home on Main Street on Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. The home was beautifully decorated with pink rose buds and green leaves. Refreshments were served. The persons present were:

Misses Ruth and Anna Miller, Ellie Smith, Carrie and Jessie Turner, Misses Mary and Ethel Huntington, and Gerald Stone of Pineville, W. Va., D. Lee, Harry J. and Frank Baker, of Richmonda.

MISS BLAEK UNPLAINS

Miss Dorothy Blaek, the hostess to several of her old associates on Pine Street, to her cousin Evelyn Blaek, of Barbourville, who is her guest. The room was decorated with pretty cut paper flowers. Rook was played in the afternoon, Miss Mildred in the evening, the prize being a box of chocolates. Refreshments were served. The persons present were Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Crouch, Mildred and Mary Morrison of Knoxville, Anita Hamm, Mary and Alice Taylor of Milligan, Margaret and Mary Lee Taylor, Elsie and Ruth Strode, Francis Long, Josephine Hall, John and City Staff.

BOUGHT RESIDENCE

James C. Bright, of Barbourville, has purchased the residence of Mrs. Sarah Dibble, 101 Virginia Av., which is occupied by Mr. Williams and family. The price paid for the property was $7,500.

Mr. Bright, who is a teacher at the school at Arden, is to move his family to Pineville at the close of his school work at the place. —Pineville Sun.

The Mountain Advocate does not print—yes!

Our Interest in the SMALL ACCOUNT

To us the small account means much. We have watched so many of them grow into GIANTS.

Don't think your Small Account is not important to your Banker. To him a small account is the first sign of financial independence.

Your Banker says to himself, when a new account is established: "I will watch this account. Its owner is showing unmistakable signs of growing. He will be independent some of these days. The more I can help him the more he can help me."

As soon as your Banker sees you making good with YOURSELF, he is very willing to back your efforts.

COAL AND CARS

The Republican Congress immediately before adjournment in June authorized a loan of $300,000,000 to the railroads, $125,000,000 of which has already been made available. The loan was made necessary for the purchase of new equipment and the reconditioning of service utilities following a period of Federal operation during the present administration. Declaring that the coal miners and operators are not profiteers, but that the high price of coal is due to the lack of transportation, Representative John M. Robison, of Kentucky, says: "If the nation is to be furnished with coal and the price is to be within reach of the people, the railroads must furnish an adequate supply of cars to the mines. A good car supply will solve the real problem of the nation, but it is only fair to say that the Government during the period of Federal control did not keep up the rolling stock. The tonnage of the country has increased greatly and the railroad facilities of the country have diminished."—Republican Publicity Assn.

Governor Cox's "Come to See Me at the White House" shows that at any rate he is an incurable optimist.—Boston Transcript.

Another instance where actions speak louder than words: On the day Candidate Cox was making promises that he would appoint a "dirt farmer" to his cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture, Candidate Coolidge was out in his fields pitching hay.—Tonawanda (N. Y.) News.

Having been a country newspaper publisher, the presidency should have no terrors for Senator Harding. He has become used to being damned if he does and damned if he does not, and will accept as a matter of course the multitude of people who know better what he should do than he does himself.—Hillsboro (Ore.) Republican.

Those who expect to make Democratic capital out of the name of Roosevelt should remember Shakespeare's question, "What's in a name?" George Washingtons have been hanged, there are Abraham Lincs in the penitentiary, and Grover Cleveland Bergdol is still at large. There is no reflection on the character of the Democratic candidate for Vice-President. Indeed the ticket would look better if the names of its leaders were transposed.—Logan (Ohio) Republican.

OUR PROGRESS

Most of us lack perspective. We have our novelties on the grindstone of work and fail to realize how we are progressing. Also the human mind so readily adapts itself to circumstances that it accepts new and improved conditions without much thought.

In five years our banks have trebled the amount of deposits on hand. Barbourville's efforts have resulted in the paving of practically every street in the city.

State and Federal Aid have been secured on the important roads as a start toward a good roads system. There is much to be done and cooperative work will be necessary to get good roads all over the County but that can be achieved.

Our lumber interests bring in about $3,000,000 annually.

We have big coal deposits in the County in which interest is growing and as soon as the financial condition justifies it, railroads will be built or extended to these properties and they will be developed. Already coal mining produces around $2,000,000 annually.

The Advocate is interested in the fruit development in the County, believing that our $1,000,000 from agriculture can be turned into $3,000,000 by combined agriculture and fruit growing. In this connection it is interesting to note that one man is planning a two acre strawberry patch for next year. Fruit for export and a canning factory, backed by home men, would mean much to the County. It is coming too.

The Hickory Mill, under the management of T. W. Minton & Co. has grown tremendously the past two years and especially during the past year. This mill means much to the city.

L. L. Richardson has done wonders with the Barbourville Brick Co. plant and is still enlarging. Every payroll is a city asset.

The building of the C. & M. R. R. has done a great deal for Barbourville, opening up a fine territory for agricultural, coal and timber development.

In the matter of public utilities Barbourville is away ahead of most cities of its size. The Barbourville Electric Light and Power Company which has a fine plant continues to still further improve its property. The Barbourville Supply Company gives us the blessing of natural gas and good pure water in abundance—two things that are often lacking in towns like our own.

In telephone communication we are amply provided with every facility. The Tri-State Telephone Co., under the able management of Chas. Chandler of London, and locality of Manager Williams, is completely standardizing the system until it will be second to none in the country.

Educationally we rank high. Our High School is a fine building; we have an excellent Board of Trustees; a first class faculty; children whose manners have not been tarnished by the rag and bobtail element often found in larger cities. One bunch of nice kids, in fact.

Union College and B. B. I. are each fulfilling their mission of education and are fitting boys and girls of our great Mountain Country for positions of trust in all of life's professions, whether at home or in foreign lands.

Barbourville churches are doing good work and letting their light shine before men that they may see their good works.

The Civic League is doing excellent work and has been for years along lines of civic improvement, sanitation, etc.

We have several Women's Clubs which are giving the women an opportunity to still further increase their knowledge along lines old and new.

City and County officials have the welfare of Knox County generally at heart. Let us get behind them and hold up their hands. Personal suggestion of an intelligent nature will receive due consideration from both bodies.

Our citizens do not co-operate as they should but that will come in time and when it does we shall be like the little busy bee.

The Advocate Job Printing Office is at YOUR SERVICE. Rush orders rushed.

Famous London Bridge.

Blackfriars bridge, a famous structure across the Thames, in London, was built by Robert Myne, in 1700 to 1709. Owing to its piers giving way it was replaced by an iron structure resting on granite piers. It is 1,272 feet long and 80 feet broad. The bridge derives its name from an ancient monastery of the Black Friars, which once stood on the bank of the river close at hand. It dated from 1276, and was the scene of several parliaments. It was there also that Cardinals Wolsey and Campeggio pronounced sentence of divorce against Queen Catherine of Aragon, June 21, 1539. In 1599 Shakespeare acted in a theater that occupied part of the site of the ancient monastery.

THE DAYS FOR SMALL COOKIES

During the warm weather, when one eats lightly of rich cake, the small cakes and cookies seem especially fitting. A variety may be prepared and many kinds improve with age.

Chocolate Cookies.—Take one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of shortening, one-half cupful of sour milk, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one egg, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-half cupful of walnut meats and two squares of chocolate. Drop from a teaspoon on buttered sheets.

Frosting.—Take three cupfuls of sugar, one whole egg, beaten, three tablespoonsfuls of cream. Add the sugar a little at a time, until smooth and well blended. Spread on the cookies when nearly cold.

Fruit Cookies.—Take three well-beaten eggs, one scant cupful of shortening, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and soda, the latter dissolved in half a cupful of boiling water, one cupful of coconut and one pound of dates, chopped fine, one teaspoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful each of lemon and vanilla extract. This makes forty small cakes.

Macaroons.—Take one cupful each of sugar, cornflakes and coconut. Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff; add the sugar gradually, then the coconut and cornflakes, with two tablespoonsfuls of flour. Flavor with vanilla. Drop on a baking sheet by teaspoons. This makes two dozen small cakes.

Another Very Nice Macaroon.—Take one cupful of sugar, two egg whites, two cupfuls of cornflakes, one cupful of ground nuts, salt and vanilla. Combine as in above recipe and bake in a moderate oven.

Oatmeal and Coconut Macaroons.—Cream one tablespoonful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar, one egg, well beaten, one and one-half cupfuls of ground rolled oats, which have been lightly browned, and one-half cupful of coconut. This recipe makes two dozen cakes.

Must Pay Price of Success.
The attainment of your ambition is largely a question of how much you are willing to pay for it, how long you can wait and fight for it. It is a question whether you have the stamina to turn a deaf ear to the thousand and one allurements which will try to draw you away from its main issue. How much downright effort are you making toward realizing your life's ambition? Upon this will depend your failure or success.—Orison Swett Marden in Chicago Daily News.

Peat.
Peat has long been used in fertilizing the soil, having been either applied as a direct fertilizer or used as a filler for commercial fertilizer. Analyses of the peats of the United States show an average nitrogen content of about 2 per cent, a proportion somewhat higher than that found in some commercial fertilizers. The value of peat in soil fertilization is found in its nitrogen content and in the beneficial mechanical effect it produces upon certain lands. Black, thoroughly decomposed peats are most satisfactory for fertilizer, as such peats are generally heavier and more compact and contain more nitrogen and less fibrous material than the brown types.—United States Geological Survey.

CHARMING UTILITY FROCK

To translate his idea of charm and utility combined in a frock, some gifted designer has used such simple means as tricot, satin and bone buttons. They have been put together most skillfully in a dress that will appeal to the young woman who requires serviceable clothes and insists upon good style in them.

TESTIMONY

No one in Barbourville who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary fits can afford to ignore this Williamsburg man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no resident of this locality can doubt.

J. W. Tugge, ex-deputy sheriff, Main St., Williamsburg, Ky., says:

"I had a dull aching pain in the small of my back and thru my loins which gave me considerable trouble. The kidney secretions were unnatural and at times too frequent in passage and then again scanty. I concluded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. I was not disappointed in the results. They quickly drove away the pains and aches and put my kidneys in good order."

Over three years later Mr. Tugge said: "Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of a bad case of kidney trouble a few years ago. I have had very little occasion to use a kidney medicine since. I am always glad to recommend Doan's."

Price 60¢ at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tugge had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

AN INTERESTING

HISTORIC FACT

Spears Havely, of Calvin, Ky., was here on business Wednesday and recalled a fact of great historic importance in connection with our city. Mr. Havely states that the first man killed in battle outside of Virginia was Lieut. Robert Powell, of Rogersville, Tenn., a member of the 19th Tennessee Regiment of Infantry, Confederate Army and he fell at the bridge over the old gully by the present Drake boarding house, corner of Kaox and Depot Streets. The Confederates were moving from Cumberland Gap to open the line to the salt works in Clay County succeeding in getting thru in December, '61 but were driven back at this time from the Bowling Green-Cumberland Gap line to the Memphis and Chattanooga line.

A RIVERBOAT

The Crib Club which holds forth at the Jones Hotel, is mourning the probable loss of one of its most eminent players, J. D. Jarvis, who has entered the ranks of the Benedictines. A vacant chair at the Crib table will stand as mute evidence of the club's bereavement.

ACTRESS FIRST WOMAN DIRIGIBLE FLYER

Mark up ope for Ruth Roland, pretty cinema star and heroine of the serial "Ruth of the Rockies." Also ring up one for the new Good-year Pony Blimp, probably the smallest practical dirigible in the world.

Miss Roland has pulled many spectacular stunts to delight movie fandoms, but it remained for her to gain the honor of being the first woman passenger to try out dirigible flying, when she took a jaunt over Coronado Island and the Pacific ocean near San Diego a few days ago in the Goodyear "roadster of the air." Miss Roland's attention has been drawn to the small dirigible as a coming factor in aerial motion picture work, and her trip demonstrated conclusively the importance of its accomplishments and ease of maneuverability which render feasible many hitherto impossible effects in screen photography, in addition to offering novel possibilities in the making of movie thrillers.

Miss Roland and her studio manager, Norman Manning, were so impressed with the little airship's achievement that arrangements were at once concluded to use it in new episodes of her current serial "Ruth of the Rockies."

While the airplane must maintain a racing speed or fall, the Pony Blimp is under no such handicap, its lighter than air construction enabling it to hover practically motionless at any desired height, or to glide along over a scene at a snail's pace. The ship is 95 feet long from tip of nose to tail, has a cruising range of 400 miles., and will carry two passengers and a pilot at a maximum speed of 45 miles an hour, up to an altitude of 5,000 feet. —Good-year News Service.

"BACK STAGE" AT THE METROPOLITAN

It was the closing night for the season at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City. Out in front, the first of what was to be a vast audience, was gathering back stage, there was the usual seeming confusion that attends the setting of the stage. Scene shifters and other supernumeraries were bustling about, drops being let down and as quickly jerked back again, and the customary medley of raucous-voiced orders from stage hands, each trying to tell his fellows what to do.

Back in his dressing room Thomas Chalmers was busy with his make-up before the mirror. As I entered for the second time that evening, I noticed a stranger with him—a gray haired, dignified appearing old man, with an old-fashioned, gold-headed cane. I just caught a part of his conversation as I sat down.

"And they all have one great fear, they fear the one day and they all know it will come," he said.

"What day is that?" questioned Mr. Chalmers.

"The day when their voices will fail them. Then, they think now, they will go out and be forgotten like a meteor fades and is lost in the night."

Just then the announcer entered and said:

"Fifteen minutes, Mr. Chalmers."

"Fifteen minutes and the play is on," mused the old man; "a few hours and the play and the season is gone. To-night, fifteen minutes mean nothing to us, but the day will come when we will wish we could crowd years of things we should have done into the last performance and the last fifteen minutes before the curtain. Ha, if I were a great singer I would always sing as I would at my final performance, and I would always sing the songs that make the heart of the world bigger and better. My art would not fade like the meteor, but would carry its message on into the ages, like yours will, Mr. Chalmers. That art of yours, that wonderful voice of yours, is living every day in a thousand homes, and it's you, all you, on the phonograph, I mean you know. I can't tell the difference between you and it, no, sir, these ears of mine that know the human voice like few do, can't tell the difference between it and something that man has made, ha, ha, funny old world."

The old fellow leaned back and a far-away look came into his clear, blue eyes. Possibly he was thinking of the stars of former years, that, as he said, shone in beauty for a few moments, in comparison with the life of this old world of ours, and then faded away.

The orchestra had finished the overture, the vast audience was restlessly applauding for the curtains to raise as they were slowly drawn back and up.

Chalmers put the finishing touches on his costume of centuries ago and left for his entrance to the scene. Outside, some of the principals paced back and forth, now and then softly trying their voices. The bass, costumed as a king of ages ago, stopped in front of the door, hummed a phrase, coughed and stopped. The old man across from me smiled and said: "He's thinking, too, about the day when it will be gone. I know, I know, I used to sing, but it's all forgotten now."

Then I heard the first tones of the most admirable voice of Chalmers in his opening song. I walked out to the stage, and on forbidden ground I knew, and the old man followed. Chalmers' voice rose and fell, a splendid baritone.

The old man plucked my sleeve. "Ah, that Tom Chalmers is the artist, the real singer, the wonderful actor. He's the great actor like Jean Deleske. Well do I remember Jean's first triumph here in 'Faust'. The audience saw only him, heard only him, the others were all forgotten when he sang. And this new generation never will know the beauty of his art—but of Chalmers—yes. On a little disc there is snared the soul of his voice—and as many years after to-day as have passed since Christianity first came to us, his voice will be living, vibrating as it is this minute, making the world a happier one, and countless other voices that exist now and in ages to come will do the same. Ah, that man—shone voice will perpetuate happiness forever."

Then the act progressed, he occasionally talking about the artists that are like meteors, flitting and dying in the night.

The last scene came. All around us were the members of the ballet, white dressed, carrying wings or putting them on, all preparing for their entrance. A little tot near me was excitedly describing a picture show she had seen that day. The beautiful quartet number meant nothing in her young life, she was to be a great dancer some day. Her mother, like the mothers of many other ballet girls there, brought her back and forth to the opera house every day, to study and absorb the art of the ballet under the wonderful tutelage and in the refined atmosphere of the Metropolitan, the world's greatest temple of good music. Her voice rose louder and louder until she was suddenly checked by the warning "Sash" of the property manager near by. Then the ballet whirled on and off again, the curtain was lowered and the season ended. I turned to speak to the old man, but he had disappeared. I could hear the audience shuffling out, the stage was cleared and practically deserted almost as quickly. I met Chalmers at his dressing room door and we passed out into the drizzling night.

At the corner someone plucked my sleeve and I turned to find the old man of the dressing room at my elbow. "See that woman selling papers," and he pointed through the wind-swept rain. "She, too, used to sing, but it's all gone forever now" and he, too, disappeared into the night.

"Who is he?" I asked.

"Why, I don't know, he came in just after you went out of the dressing room for the first time, and said he was with you, talked intimately about a lot of the old operatic singers and he knew the operas perfectly. Some of the operas he mentioned are practically forgotten now. Why, didn't you know him? Where did he go to?" And we turned and tried to look back into the wind-swept gloom.

"Huh, that's a peculiar incident.

I suppose he's disappeared just like those meteors he was talking about. Funny world, isn't it?"

And we walked out of the rain and down into the warm lights of the restaurant across the way.

REVIVAL OF "FLORODORA"

The most widely heralded show of many seasons, previous to its opening performance, was the revival of "Florodora" at the Century Theatre, New York City.

Twenty years ago, the original "Florodora" was the most talked of show in New York, and the famous "Florodora Sextet" the most talked of feature of the justly famous musical comedy. Those who knew the original production intimately say that the present one at least equals, if it does not exceed its predecessor. The melodies are as captivating as ever and to them have been added "Hello People" from "Harlem" and "Come to St. George's", from "The Belle of Mayfair".

"Tell Me Pretty Maiden" and "Neath the Shade of the Sheltering Palm" are as fascinating in their musical charm as they were in the days when the Casino and DeMolition's were New York and when countless millionaire stage door Johnnies courted the beauties of the famed Sextet.

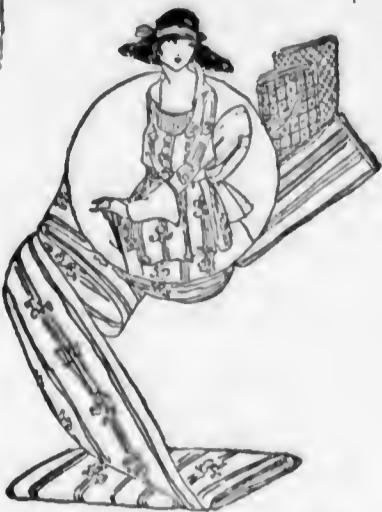

All New York and New York's visitors have made up the warmly welcoming audiences that have greeted the gorgeously costumed and beautifully staged revival. Of course, the members of the Sextet are beautiful, but beauty predominates in the 1920 show.

Eleanor Painter as "Dolores", a girl on the Florodora Island farm, is a notable member of the cast. Never has she sung more gloriously or acted with more charm or skill. Christie MacDonald returned to the cast as the same "Lady Hollywood". Pleasing George Hassell adds much to the worth of the show in his splendid portrayal of "Tweedle-Dee", the showman, hypnotist, palmist and phrenologist. As a matter of course, Prohibition is the target for a number of witticisms in the present production.

"I long for the free and open places," means old Tweedle-Dee. "Ah, me, there are no open places any more," is the disconsolate answer.

WELL AND HAPPY WOMAN, SHE SAYS

Was All Run Down and Worn
Out When She Began Taking Tanlac

"I have taken only two bottles of Tanlac, but it is just wonderful how it has built me up," said Mrs. Bertha Grimes of 1520 Portian Ave., Louisville, Ky., while recently telling a Tanlac representative of her recovery after taking the medicine.

"I was in a miserable, run-down condition," Mrs. Grimes continued, "and I had been that way for six months before I started taking Tanlac. I was so weak I could not do my housework and I honestly believe my little six-year-old boy was stronger than I was. My appetite was poor and what I ate seemed to do me more harm than good. Nearly all the time I had a pain in my side and if I started to even sweep the floor I would give completely out. I was troubled a great deal with constipation and had to be taking laxatives every few days. I hardly knew what it was to get a good night's sleep and I got up feeling worn out every morning."

"A friend of my husband told him about Tanlac and one night he brought some home to me. And now I am happy to say that things are entirely different and life is again worth living. My appetite is just fine and while I eat three good meals every day I still feel hungry. Everything I eat agrees with me and is fast giving me back my lost strength and energy. The pain in my side has disappeared and I am no longer troubled with constipation. For the first time in six months I know what it is to get a good night's rest and sleep and I get up mornings feeling so strong that it is no trouble for me to do my house-work. It is just wonderful what a great change has come over me and Tanlac deserves credit for it all."

Tanlac is sold in Barbourville by the Cut Rate Drug Co.; in Artemus by J. G. Haskins; and in Perman by N. J. Faulkner & Co.—Adv.

AMERICAN RED CROSS

TO GIVE RURAL HELP

Program for Public Health and Community Welfare Is Now
Well Under Way.

Rural communities and towns of less than 8,000 population benefit in a very large part by the public health and community welfare work of the American Red Cross. Almost all of the 8,600 Red Cross chapters have some rural sections in their territory. Therefore the Red Cross Rural Service.

Briefly, the purpose of Rural Service is to assist people to get out of life more health, wealth and happiness. In this purpose public health instruction and general educational progress of both children and adults play a big part.

Recreation is found to be one of the biggest needs in rural life. There is lack of sufficient play-life for the children and social life for the adults. Picnics, pageants, debating clubs, baseball leagues, community singing and other social events which bring the people of surrounding communities together have been organized and carried on under the guidance of Red Cross rural workers to great advantage. In many instances solving recreational problems and getting people together proves to be the awakening of the community to other conditions which may be improved by united action.

As a result of community organization, townships in which there had been neither plans nor interest in community progress have been organized to work together with the unified purpose of bringing their community up to the most enlightened standards. Lecture and musical entertainment courses have been started as a result of community meetings, as well as circulating libraries, Red Cross schools of instruction in Home Nursing, Care of the Sick and First Aid. In the larger towns the need for restrooms and public comfort stations is being met. Playgrounds for the children have been established and recreational activities worked out far for the year.

In order that there may be concerted effort in carrying on the programs of the various welfare agencies in the rural districts, Red Cross Rural Service helps the organizations already on the ground. The main object of the service is to lead a hand everywhere and take the lead only where necessary.

JUNIOR RED CROSS ACTIVE IN EUROPE

Garden seeds for Polish orphans, milk for anaemic Greek babies, carpenters' tools for Czechoslovakian cripples—these are only a few of the gifts that young Americans are sending to the war-ravished children of the Old World.

Through the Junior Red Cross the boys and girls of the United States are giving a fresh start in life to little war orphans scattered all over Europe. They have set up orphanages in France, school colonies in Belgium and Montenegro, and day schools in Austria.

They are sending dozens of young Syrians, Montenegrins, and Albanians to American colleges in Constantinople and Beirut, and maintaining more than a hundred orphans of French soldiers at colleges and trade schools. In orphanages and farm schools up and down the peninsula of Italy there are nearly 500 wards of American Juniors.

Last winter a thousand French children from the inadequate shelters of the devastated regions were sent by the Junior Red Cross to spend the cold months in warmer parts of France. At the same time five thousand little Belgians were having a hot lunch every day at Junior Red Cross school canteens.

American school children have already raised something like a million dollars for these enterprises, and they are still hard at work.

In China, through campaigns of education, the Junior Red Cross is helping to combat widely prevalent blindness and cholera.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN CENTRAL EUROPE

But for timely assistance of the American Red Cross during the last year, a large proportion of the 20,000,000 population of the Balkan States might have starved or perished from disease or exposure. Six million dollars worth of food, clothing and medical supplies have been sent to the Balkans—Bulgaria, Albania, Montenegro, Serbia, Bosnia and Greece—since the beginning of Red Cross relief operations in Central Europe, while millions of dollars worth of food alone has been sent to the needy in these states.

The money expended by the Red Cross in this stricken portion of Europe has been used to set up hospitals, orphanages, dispensaries, mobile medical units and to help in the general reconstruction of devastated areas. American tractors and other farming implements have been sent to the agricultural regions where aid has been given in plowing the land.

By the last of this year probably all American Red Cross agencies administering relief in Central Europe will have withdrawn. By that time, it is believed, the people will have approached a normal state of living and will be able through their own agencies which the Red Cross has helped set up to provide for themselves.

It is the keeping and not the breaking of good resolutions which affects the brain.

NOT MUCH HOPE FOR REDUCTION IN TIRE PRICES

Car owners who are holding back on the purchase of tire equipment in the hope of a reduction in prices are likely to be disappointed. There is nothing in the tire manufacturing situation to indicate a downward trend of tire costs.

On the contrary, a "break" will necessarily mean the advancing of prices seems inevitable.

A resume of the tire industry and the conditions under which it has developed in the last decade, causes the casual observer to wonder if tire prices have not already begun to climb steadily.

Unless one studies carefully the underlying reasons for the successful checking of tire prices in face of overwhelming advances in virtually every other commodity, it is rather amazing to note that prices are now much lower than they were ten years ago. It is still more interesting to compare prices of standard manufacture tires today with prices of the same product at the beginning of the war. Good tires now cost no more than in 1914. There has not been an appreciable advance in the last ten years. And yet the quality is higher and the purchaser gets more value for his money than ever before.

When one considers that prices of raw material, labor and transportation have made more tremendous leaps in the last five years than during any period in manufacturing history the natural query concerning the manufacturers is "How do they hold down the prices?"

And from this question comes the answer to another, "Will the prices go down?"

It does not appear that a decrease is likely.

Manufacturing genius, which has about reached its limit, has kept down the cost to the tire user. The standard manufacturer has combat ed price increases by developing his processes. He has expended millions of dollars in the installation of new machinery, better machinery, and new methods. He has brought his output to maximum and has made his profits on a quantity margin. He has smashed overhead expenses by use of these weapons and by putting his distribution on such a broad basis as to make it economical.

Output has about reached its acme. So long as demand continues strong there is a possibility that tire prices will remain on their present level.

But if a general determination to "hold out" should spread among car-owners it is more than probable that such an attitude would tend to create a reverse effect to the one desired and send tire prices rocketing.

An illustration of the surprising facts recited here may be obtained from the following table of price comparisons compiled recently by a leading tire and rubber company. Altho this table, of course, shows only the quotations of that particular company, it may be accepted that it is an average because the company is considered one of the leaders in the industry and is a standard manufacturing concern.

Size of Tire and Tubes, 30x3, 1910 price, $27.60—$5.65; 1920 Price, $18.75—$3.15.

Galveston, Tex.—Saving the lives of thirty persons in various stages of helplessness in one day is the record of the American Red Cross Volunteer Life Saving Corps of Galveston. During a recent airplane race, hundreds selected the cooling waters of the Gulf as the most advantageous place from which to watch the planes, despite the development of a strong cross current which made swimming dangerous for the inexperienced. Four Red Cross Life Savers were kept on duty throughout the day and until late at night.

DOG STANDS GUARD OVER DEAD BODY OF MASTER

MIDDLESBORO, Ky.—Faithful unto death.

Such was the case of "Jack", collie dog, whose master, Dr. Fred Armin, hypnotist and patent medicine vendor, lay dead on the front porch of his home here, shot by Mrs. Arch Walker, wife of a local machinist.

Police, answering the call that Armin had been killed, found the man had already been moved inside.

"Jack" met them at the door. When one of the men started in, he was met by the bared teeth of a fighting collie, ready to give battle. The officer halted.

Investigation of the affair was stayed until a previous owner of the dog was summoned. The collie went into the house, licked his master's hand and then followed his boss of puppy-hood days without a backward look.

Dr. Armin, who was over 60 yrs. old, was shot by Mrs. Walker Aug. 7. No motive has been learned and stories regarding the affair vary. The woman is being held while an investigation is carried on by the police.

HEON

To Miss Lallah bride-elect, Mrs. ined on Wednesday home of Mrs. J.

anked in green, facefully presided over by Jewel Tye. The guests were received at the door by Mrs. J. D. Tugge and each registered in a Guest Book.

The honoree was led by Cupid, little Miss Mary Newitt, down the "Rocky Road to Matrimony" where they removed the "rocks" which were many beautiful and useful gifts.

Several songs by Miss Alice Metcalf, accompanied by Miss May Bingham, both of Pineville, were artistically rendered and greatly enjoyed.

A source of great fun was the giving of advice to the bride-to-be by the Experienced and the Inexperienced. Much of this advice, given in light or serious vein, would no doubt, go far in the solution of "How to be Happy the married."

At noon a beautiful buffet luncheon in two courses, was served from the dining room. Mrs. R. H. Newitt and Mrs. H. H. Owens presided over chafing dishes, assisted by Misses Emoline Sampson, Ruby Putnam, Gladys Johnson and Myra Amis. Mrs. C. F. Rathfon served coffee and iced tea from the tea wagon. The lees were wedding bells and bride's slippers.

Those included in Mrs. Black's hospitality were: Mesdames Vernon C. Hronlee, Melbourne, Fla., Jas. Sawyer, St. Petersburg, Fla., D. C. Tolbert, Indianapolis, Ind., J. S. Golten, T. B. Kaufman, Leslie Logan, J. S. Miller, W. S. Hudson, Jas. Mitchell, Guy Dickinson, J. F. Tinsley, T. D. Tinsley, C. H. Baker, W. R. Hughes, C. F. Rathfon, C. P. Kennedy, R. H. Newitt, F. D. Sampson, H. ### Torpid Liver

Black-Draught "has no equal for headache, sour stomach, torpid liver and feverish colds . . ." declares Mrs. Annie Whitmore, of Gate City, Va. "It is easy to take and does not gripe, as a lot of medicines do," she adds. "It is good to take in a hot tea for colds, or can be taken in a dry powder. I can't say enough for Black-Draught and the sickness it has saved us."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

has been found a valuable liver medicine, in thousands of homes. "I do not use any other liver medicine," says Mrs. Mary O. Brown, of Europa, Miss. "It is splendid for sour stomach, a bad taste in the mouth or torpid liver. I keep it all the time, use it with the children and feel it has saved us many dollars in doctor bills and many days in bed."

HOW TO BURNIN A HUMAN

Any woman with intelligence and "motherly" instinct can learn to be a practical nurse and earn from fifteen to twenty-five dollars a week. If you cannot spend three years in a hospital or are past the hospital age, study a common-sense book, called "Nursing in the Home," by Leo H. Smith, M. D. This book is written in way that is easy to comprehend. It will teach you how to recognize different diseases; how to take temperature; how to give care of fever patients; how to give baths; all about the sick room. It treats of burns and scalds, broken limbs, bleeding from wounds (bandaging) drowning, fainting—almost every contingency is covered.

Many pages are devoted to Hygiene, Anatomy, Physiology and Medicine. It contains advice for mothers and tells how to care for infants.

This 500-page book, bound in a handsome red cloth, is worth $2.00 but for a limited time can be secured by sending fifty cents to the publishers, World's Medical Press, 652 Washington Street, Buffalo, N. Y. —Adv.

Save Money—Put Goodyear Tires on Your Small Car

Avoid disappointment with tires made to be sold at sensationaly cheap prices by using Goodyear Tires built to deliver maximum mileage at minimum cost.

The high relative value built into Goodyear Tires, of the 30 x 3, 30 x 3 1/2, and 31 x 4-inch sizes, results from the application of Goodyear experience and care to their manufacture in the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.

Such facts explain why more cars, using these sizes, were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

If you drive a Ford, Chevrolet, Maxwell or Dort, take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy true Goodyear mileage and economy; equip your car with Goodyear Tires and Heavy Tourist Tubes at our nearest Service Station.

30 x 3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30 x 3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? $4.50 30 x 3 1/2 size in waterproof bag.
